

Eugene V. Radchenko received his Ph.D. in Organic Chemistry from the Department of Chemistry, Lomonosov Moscow State University (Moscow, Russia) in 2002. Then, he joined the Department of Chemistry as a member of the research and teaching staff. He is currently an Associate Professor at the Division of Medicinal Chemistry and Advanced Organic Synthesis, Department of Chemistry, Lomonosov Moscow State University (Moscow, Russia).

His research interests focus on Medicinal Chemistry, Chemoinformatics, Machine Learning, Computer-Aided Drug Design (CADD), Quantitative Structure-Activity and Structure-Property Relationships, Molecular Modeling, and Virtual Screening. He advises undergraduate and Ph.D. students as well as teaches several courses such as Computer-Aided Drug Design and Chemoinformatics.

He has published over 50 scientific papers in peer-reviewed journals. He regularly serves as a reviewer for leading scientific journals such as Molecules, International Journal of Molecular Sciences, Pharmaceutics, Scientific Reports.
